EYESIGHT

HYSTERICAL REALITY

The interconnected world. A place for commodities to exchange hands and for other hands to be filled with cash. Fake value and made up things, plastic covers and plastic ideas.

A device for security. A device for commerce. A device for feeling at one with oneself.

Multinational companies fighting for monopoly by the means of capitalism. It is necessary to talk about capitalism more often. How it destroys and appropriates, steals and exploits.

A simulation of an object of an emotion of itself.

Longing for objects that comes to you, just for you. Delivery throughout the day. A constant flow of things and thoughts and services and bodies. Creating opportunities. Purchasing opportunities.

A new flavour of juice for your vape that tastes like fake Victorian shops smell in museums' walk-through exhibitions.

Amazon workers in Scotland are camping next to their workplace because the transportation to the warehouse is too expensive. As is the rent.

Don't push! Down here there's room for everyone.

eBay and Amazon follow the pattern of big multinational companies stamping on unions. People's health and life stand in the way of profit. Buying your time, owning your life.

A game world you drive around in where you're not represented by a car and it doesn't take place on a road.

Nationalise Amazon, and make it into the peoples store where the excess goes back into society.

While you're at it nationalise rail and power and communications and the banks and rebuild the BBC.

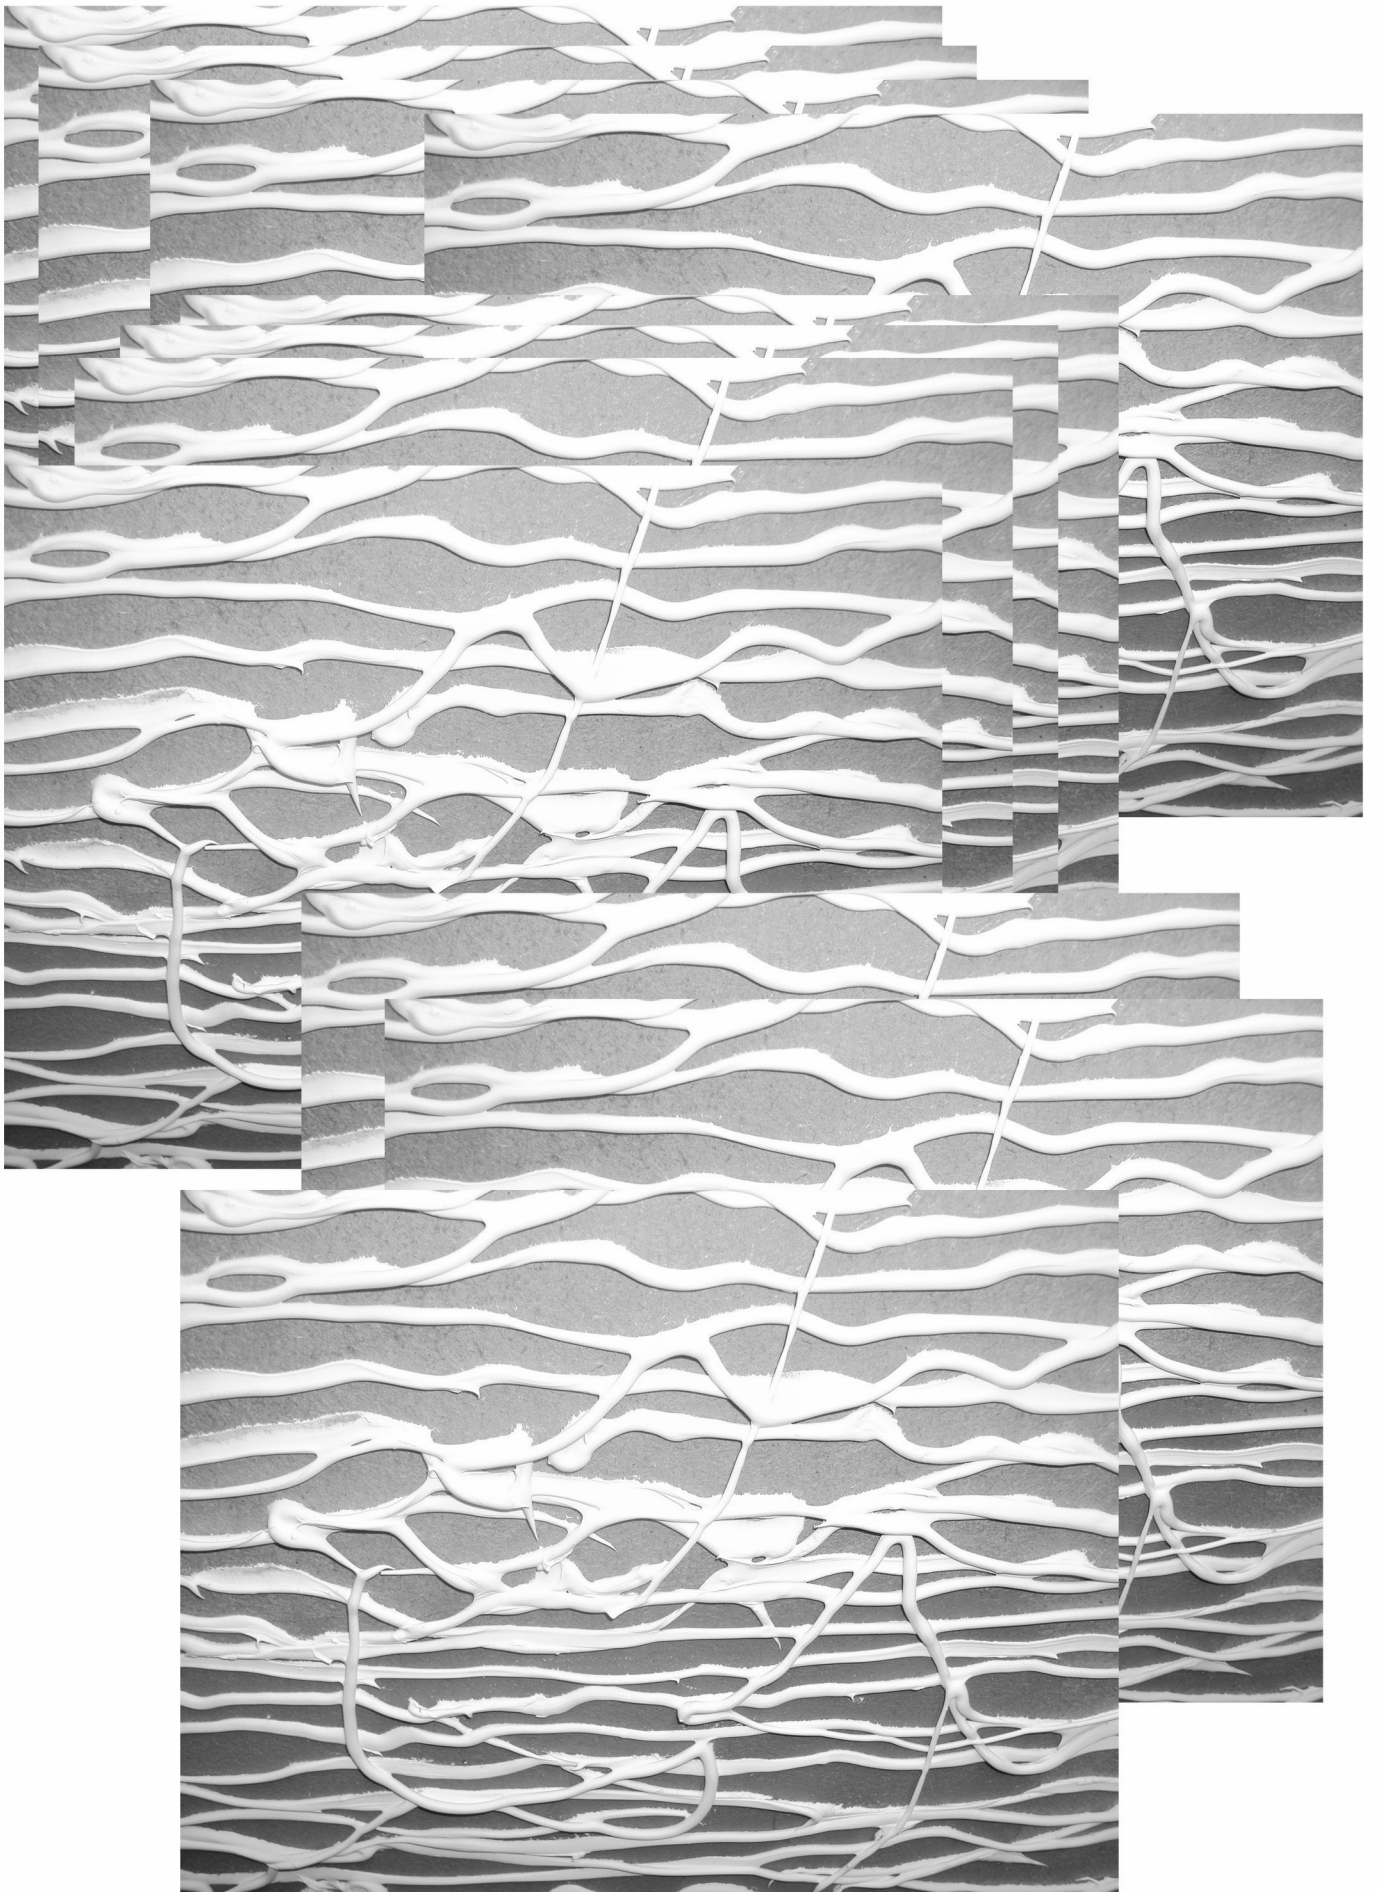

Why is there zero hour contracts, when there should be zero hour working weeks. Time to explore, time to not be exploited. Lowering your own standards and stand up for someone else. Embrace automation as you nowadays embrace stress. Stand up against profit.

Was Satoshi an alien from the future who gave us bitcoin and the blockchain as a gift to stop us destroying ourselves?

You are the messiah.

I am an angry mob.

You have been ring fenced.

I am the greatest show on earth.

You are setting a very good example.

I am almost infinite.

You don't need to shout so loud.

I am paying my respects to each one of your relatives.

You are far more considerable when standing still.

I deal with this sort of thing ten times a day.

Your guess is as good as mine.

**Sigh**

You are the messiah.
